Symposium - Workshop Citylab 2019_b:
Fear – Architecture - Art

ATHENS SCHOOL OF FINE ARTS
256, Pireos st, Athens, 25-28 September 2019

Citylab initiative aims at urban/artistic/cultural research and practice. Citylab attempts to establish interdisciplinary communication channels for the significance of art and architecture in urban planning as well as to enrich and extend the dialogue on the multiple factors for urban development through intensive experiential workshops, theoretical interventions, lectures and performances.

During the 8th Panhellenic Symposium-Workshop Citylab 2019_b, which will be held at the Athens School of Fine Arts between 25 – 29 September 2019, the notion of “fear” will be examined both as status quo in everyday social practice and as a creative force for sustainable architectural and artistic proposals.

Symposium Citylab: 26 & 27 September 2019 (DE CHIRICO HALL – FREE ENTRANCE).

Distinguished researchers from various disciplines (art, architecture, philosophy, aesthetics, psychology) will be discussing the notion of “fear” in order to motivate the students participating in the Workshop and enhance the audience’s critical thinking.

Workshop Citylab: 25-28 September 2019 (OLD LIBRARY HALL – REGISTERED STUDENTS ONLY)

Citylab 2019_b Workshop will deal with the notion of “fear” as a means to map urban space and design focusing on sustainable urban proposals in city planning.

Thematic Tribute: 26 September 2019, 20:00 (DE CHIRICO HALL – FREE ENTRANCE).

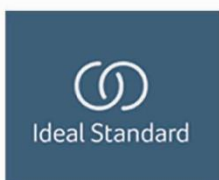

This year’s thematic tribute is dedicated to the work of Mr. Anastastios M. Kotsiopoulos, renowned architect, professor at the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki and writer. His projects include the master plans for seven Greek universities and a series of public and private buildings. Two of these buildings (the University of Thessaly transitional building and the underground extension of the Aristotle University Main Library) have been selected by the Hellenic Institute of Architecture and the Deutsches Architektur Museum among the 130 most important buildings of the 20th century in Greece.
